

THE AMERICAN SURVIVOR

Volume 1 — No. 1

A WORD FROM THE PUBLISHER

Greetings — Welcome to this new publishing venture.

Some of you ‘old timers’ in the gun field will remember that I was the original publisher of such newsstand magazines as S.W.A.T., Firepower and Fighting Knives. I was, also, the publisher of Desert Publication books.

In 1989 I divested myself of those businesses and tried to assume a life of leisurely retirement, enjoying my hobbies of Ham Radio, Flying, Model Railroading, etc. As it turns out, this was wishful thinking!

I guess that my plans could have succeeded had I not been aware of the political upheaval, not only world wide, but within our own country.

I spent the first-half of my life as an engineer. As such in 1961, I found myself working on nuclear ordnance design in Livermore, CA. I got a good view of our atomic war situation from the inside looking out! This was during the Cuban missile crisis and the apex of the Cold War!

I grew to dislike that whole industry and soon quit that job and began a life-long study of things political. I prayed that the Lord would open my eyes to what was really happening. I warn you — don’t offer that prayer unless you are ready for an “E” ticket ride in the fast-lane of life!

In the fall of 1963, President Kennedy was assassinated! My young mind now had plenty to think about.

My hobbies seemed to interact with my overall thinking. Being a private pilot, I knew that if I was flying over level ground and observed my altimeter slowly decreasing at the same time my rate of climb meter indicated negative, I could come to only one conclusion — at some future time and place I was going come into contact with the ground and my flying career was going to come to a sudden end. Its the law of inevitability.

Also, using flying terminology, I was aware that during the take off roll, you reach a point of no return “V1”. Until a pilot reaches this point, he is alert to instrument reading, sounds and visual hazards. If things don’t look right, before V1 he can pull the throttle and have runway enough to roll to a safe stop.

Past V1 (point of no return) the take-off must be followed through, regardless of what lies ahead — you no longer have enough runway for a safe stop.

During the mid-60’s I became convinced that our nation was past the point of no-return. There was nothing politically that could or would be done that could alter this disastrous course. Our 2-party system was merely the same snake, only with 2 heads!

During the 1960’s anti-Communist organizations were plentiful. It was us against them — Truth was our only weapon — Just educate the population and they would vote the good guys in and the bad guys out! Right! In 2008, the American people voted a Fascism supporter to the office of President. Barry Soetoro, who either can't or won't prove he's even a citizen, who is now enjoying the good life aboard Air Force One. Few seem to care.

Yet, even today, some of these poor, brain-washed Americans still think that, in 2010, the voters can and will change things!

This publication will make no attempt at waking the walking-dead among us — those who are so into denial that they refuse to see the storm clouds in the distant horizon.

The American Survivor is written to the person who is awake and sees trouble ahead, but needs help preparing for it. This isn't a magazine about the newest camping gear, eating indiginous plants and animals, or any Boy Scout type activity. These fields have been adequately covered by other good publications.

All subjects will be approached from the most economically possible position. Starting from scratch, adequate survival preparations for an average family would require at least $50,000.00 at prices when this was written. This does not include relocating to a "retreat" or obtaining any "bug-out" type vehicles.

A lot of people are, hopefully, already living in areas that are about as ideal as they could be. Everyone will have problems to solve, since we're treating this as a "making the best of a bad situation" ordeal. Few have the funds for total preparations. You must set priorities for your allotted money.

This year (2010) promises war, economic upheavel, and bank closures with the devaluing of the dollar. Everything addressed in this magazine must be done NOW!

Many of you are still living in areas from which you should have moved 10 years ago. In most cases, there simply isn't time enough to do so now. In these cases, it is staying where you are and hoping for the best.

Large cities will likely become lawless, "Mad Max" areas with rioting and looting the norm. Police and federal troops will be involved — typically causing more problems than solving them. You can almost count on the feds offering food for guns! Don't fall for it!

Just as living in big cities becomes intolerable, living alone in a remote retreat will be not be ideal either. Survival must be done by groups of neighborly, like-thinking people, who can each contribute their individually-unique skills.

All the sociological problems faced in a normal society, will only be accelerated during the trying times ahead.

And lastly, why is America falling under such plight? Haven't we helped others with foreign aid? Aren't we good people? What has gone wrong?

Our nation is at the hands of Almighty God, who is angry at the way his laws and judgements have been increasingly-disobeyed, since the founding of our nation. God isn't making the punishment — only removing his protective hand from us. By doing so, the enemy is free to act on us as they are now doing.

All God's help will be removed until, after depleting all resources, we, both individual and nation, finally turn to God for help. At that time He will destroy our enemies with His mighty vengeance .

May we live to see that day!
